CONFESSION FROM ANOTHER DYNAMITE FIEND TRAILED TO EARTH IS CLIMAX IN ITS EVIL AND TERRIFYING EVIDENCE

George F. Davis, Alias O'Donnell, Master Tool in Infamous Campaign of Iron Workers Leaders, Held in New York, Tells More of the Black Inside History Than Previously Known — Brings About New Arrests.

Secretary-Treasurer Jones Taken in Custody — Davis Story Directly Implicates Him — Also Adds to the Testimony Against President Ryan — The Taking of Davis Comes at End of Long Chase.

If Allegations Prove True, Capture Is Indicated the Most Important Brought About by Government.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Dynamite outrages rivaling the exploits of the McNamara and McManis were confessed today by George E. Davis, a union iron worker. Davis, arrested here today, was the George O'Donnell who figured in the Indianapolis trial and conviction of Frank M. Ryan, iron workers president and 37 associates. The arrest was an outcome of the round-up work which the federal government started more than two years ago when the dynamiting of bridges and steel frame buildings all over the country became a national scandal. All the explosions, Davis says, were caused, that were touched on or testified to in the trial at Indianapolis, but the fact that Davis caused them remained unrevealed until he told it today.

Davis' confession resulted in the arrest in Indianapolis of Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the Iron Workers union. His confession supplements the evidence presented in the Indianapolis trial and makes fresh charges against some of the men convicted and now in prison. Some of his revelations concern President Ryan, now out on bail, pending appeal from the prison sentence of seven years given to him.

Robert Foster Louisville detective, shadowed the iron worker through eastern cities. Finally, several weeks ago, when Davis was displeased with his treatment by the union, Foster persuaded him to make a full confession. This was in Sept. 16. For a week Davis had been working in Pittsburgh. A local delegate of the Iron Workers union told him he must pay $26 initiation fee to the local union, or quit work. Davis quit, and feeling that the union had deserted him, accompanied Foster to New York.

In this city in the presence of representatives of the office of the federal district attorney and of the National Erectors association, he dictated and swore to the long detailed confession which was given out today by the district attorney's office.

Davis said he had been an iron worker since 1909. In the early days of the troubles between the union and the bridge builders, he was a member of the entertainment committee, whose duty it was to assault non-union workers. In a carefully detailed confession he describes how he blew up, or tried to blow up buildings in various cities of the east. It was during his preparation of plans to destroy a new building at Fall River, April 26, 1908, that Davis first came into communication with Harry Jones. He said he got Jones in Indianapolis on the phone and asked him for money. Jones, he adds, sent $50. Davis asserts Jones was familiar with the work he was doing.

Under the name of O'Donnell, Davis was arrested for the Fall River job and served two years in prison. During his prison term, he says his friends "made a couple of noises" in other parts of New England to convince the authorities that Davis or O'Donnell was not the only one doing dynamite work.

Davis says he is the man who was chosen to kill Walter Drew, attorney of the National Erectors association in December, 1911, after was charged with kidnapping John J. McNamara. It was suggested that he also try and "get" William J. Burns, the detective employed by Drew and his associates to unearth the dynamite conspiracy. The price on Drew's head at that time, Davis said, was $5,000. "I told them," the confession continued, "I didn't want to mix up in such business." Davis has consented to return to Indianapolis without extradition papers. "His bail is fixed at $10,000. The conspiracy thought to have been broken up by the conviction of Ryan and others, still exists according to Davis' confession. With exception of Harry Jones, the men mentioned in connection with various dynamite jobs have already been arrested, although the confession indicates that the government had not obtained all the incriminating evidence against these defendants when they were tried in Indianapolis.

THE BATTLE WITH MAAS STILL PENDING; QUIET AT NEGROS

Committee of Safety Maintains Order—Federals Said to Be Seeking Aid

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Oct. 2.—Contrary to expectations, the federal army under Gen. Maas did not reach Piedras today.

The constitutionalist forces assembling at that point made no move to delay but are preparing to check the northward advance of the government troops.

Setting aside the policy pursued in previous campaigns of enlisting only Mexicans, foreign soldiers of fortune, if they be equipped with rifles and disposition to fight, are being welcomed in the federal ranks. It is reported the rebels have recaptured Monclova.

Other than the excitement attending the suppression of filibustering expeditions which attempted to seize Piedras Negras from the U. S. side of the boundary line, no disorders occurred today. The invaders were driven back by guards commissioned by a committee of safety as the neutral city government organized yesterday is known. As far as ascertained, no one was wounded.

Hinman will outline the defense if able. Louis A. Sorecky, formerly the governor's campaign secretary, will be the first witness for the impeached executive. That the governor will testify, there is no doubt, despite the fact that some members of his counsel are opposed to his taking the stand.

OELRICHS-SINGLETON CUTTING MYSTERY IS MADE STILL DARKER

Third Student Is Now Alleged Involved—President of Columbia Says They Go

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Mystery still clouds the case of Herman Oelrichs, Columbia law student, and Miss Lucille Singleton of Texas. Although Oelrichs was held in magistrate's court today for hearing on Tuesday, charged with stabbing the girl, it is still a question whether she received her injuries thus or from the glass of the windshield through which she was thrown when young Oelrichs' car crashed into a tree.

The case is further complicated by statement of Oelrichs' lawyer that a third person, said to be a Columbia student, was in the machine. The identity of this person is not disclosed.

Dean Stone, of Columbia, it is said will have Oelrichs brought before him. "If the newspaper stories are true," he declared, "or even approximately so, he cannot remain."

HIGH FINANCE TO THE LIMIT IN THIS DEAL

Transit Co. Refused Right to Organize a Company in Which $75 Would Control the $100,000 of Investors

The Corporation Commission Stand Starts Immediate Talk of Recalls — Strike Trouble Is Involved.

PHOENIX, Oct. 2.—An order was entered late this afternoon by the Corporation commission answering and denying the application of the Rapid Transit company of Phoenix for a permit to sell the capital stock of that corporation to the public. The hearing came up under the state statute known as the "blue sky" law. All of the members of the commission signed the order, which has created great excitement in political circles on account of the history of the company making the application.

When the strike was declared by employees of the Phoenix street car system last July, the attendant features of the strike including a small sized riot and the eging of several cars which it was attempted to operate, the local labor unions organized a common fund and put in commission a line of automobiles to traverse the routes covered by the street car lines. The competition was fierce and frequently during the month following the calling of the strike, fights were frequent between the car men and the operators of the auto line.

It was apparent that if progress was to be made in fighting the street car company, a regular equipment of automobiles would have to be put in service. For such an object and to handle the financing of such a line the Rapid Transit Company of Phoenix was organized and subscription of a large part of the preferred stock of the company was made by various union organizations over the state. It was made plain to all that the new company was a union labor company.

The attention of the officers of the company was called to the "blue sky" law and application was made to the commission for a permit under the act. The commissions answer was the opinion and order entered yesterday. Already there are rumors about the places where prominent labor men make their headquarters that the recall may be invoked against one or more of the commissioners on account of the action taken.

The decision is based on patent failure of the incorporators to meet with the requirements of the law, the failure being flagrant, in that it would enable a minority holder of investment of no more than $75 interest to absolutely dictate entire control of the corporation, representing a remainder of $99,225 in proposed stock investment. The salient paragraphs of the ruling, after reciting the facts are as follows:

It is further provided in the articles of incorporation that the preferred stock and holders thereof, shall not participate or have any voice in the policy, control or business methods and affairs of the company, and that said holders of preferred stock shall not be allowed to vote at any meeting of stockholders.

Said articles of incorporation further provide that the voting power and the policy, control and conduct of the affairs of this company, shall be forever vested in the common stock.

In the application of this company for permission to sell its capital stock, it pays for authority to sell 19,985 shares of its preferred stock and but 15 shares of its common stock, at par value.

If this method of disposing of its capital stock should receive the sanction and approval of this commission, it would mean that if successful in the sale of stock prayed for, this com-

JAPAN DESIRES TO AVAIL HERSELF OF COMMERCIAL TREATY

Sees Opportunity in Passage of New Tariff Law—Explanation of Urgent Notes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Officials here are inclined to believe the prospect of the new tariff bill and not the controversy over California Alien Land legislation is responsible for suggestions in dispatches from Tokyo that a commercial treaty be negotiated between Japan and the United States.

It became known today that at an early stage of the negotiations over the California legislation, the proposition was advanced from Japan's side that if the existing treaty did not affirm the right of Japanese residents in the United States to hold land on even terms with the citizens of other nations, the omission should be corrected by amendment in a new treaty.

GRAFT DREAM OF DOUGLAS MALCONTENT

Attack on Supervisors and County Engineer in Connection with Road Building and Supplies Groundless

Takes on Ludicrous Appearance in Light of Statements of Those Assailed — Good Work Is Being Done

In the Douglas Dispatch of yesterday morning there appeared an editorial attack upon two of the members of the board of supervisors and by insinuation upon the third, and by innuendo upon the county engineer. In this editorial the Dispatch said:

"When the board of supervisors of Cochise county decided to build a county highway from the state highway at Forrest station to Gleason, County Engineer J. S. McNeish was sent over the route to survey it and render an estimate of cost. Mr. McNeish, who is reputed to be a competent man in his line of work, did so. His estimate was approximately $15,000 for the entire job.

"The county records as compiled by J. N. Gaines, secretary of the Cochise County Taxpayers association, shows that almost as much as the estimate for the entire work had been expended up to September 1. As closely as Mr. Gaines could estimate, $6,000 more has been expended during the month of September. This makes a total of approximately $21,000 and the work is not much more, if any, than half completed.

"What the people have a right to demand to know is whether the estimate was wrong in its premises, or whether there has been wasteful waste through poor management or other causes?

"Charges are being freely made that the road foreman, who is paid five dollars per day for the work he is supposed to do for the county, is running a boarding house in connection with the work, at which all road workers have to board, and that all his supplies are purchased from August Hickey, chairman of the board, in his private capacity as a Bisbee grocer.

"Another charge made by common rumor is that hay of inferior quality, grown on a ranch owned by Supervisor John Rock, but sold by W. D. McFarland, is purchased by the county at $15 per ton, with freight added, when Tempe dealers for a better grade of alfalfa hay charged $9 per ton.

"We are not in position to say whether either of these charges are true, but we do demand in behalf of the people of the county that an investigation be made.

"The county records, as compiled by Mr. Gaines, show that in June the county purchased from Alfred J. Peters & Co., Inc., 228 bales of alfalfa hay, 20,500 pounds, at $9.00 per ton. "The same records show that in September, W. D. McFarland, sold 22,700 pounds of alfalfa hay to the county at $15.00 per ton.

"The Dispatch, as we have said, is in no position to prove that Hickey and Rock are participating indirectly in the profits of the road work. Yet this is a charge freely made by common rumor.

"In justice to both, it should be sifted to the bottom and the truth learned.

"Furthermore, in justice to the people, the question as to why the money is going so much more rapidly than has been estimated, should be ascertained and explained."

Believing the attack unjust and unwarranted, the Review interviewed Gas Hickey, chairman of the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon. He was highly indignant at the imputation and denied that he was even selling goods to the county. He said: "The eating house at the road camp
